The London Daily Mail reported that two tours of Iraq veteran Scott Olson was brutally attacked by Oakland Police who were working along side a combined 18 Northern California Police departments including nearby university campus police when they recently disrupted the Occupy Oakland protest at Oakland City Hall. Mr. Olson across Northern California and perhaps across the country. Occupy Atlanta, Albuquerque, and others have seen similar challenges from law personnel. Are there Occupy LA eradication plans occurring within Southern California law enforcement agencies too?

Mayor Antonia Villaraigosa said Occupy LA "cannot continue is now on a respirator with swelling of the brain.

During the Oakland PD's bloody crack down on Occupy Oakland, police recklessly and with what appeared to be an intent to harm deliberately tossed "flash bang grenades" into the center of the crowd who rushed to assist the downed soldier. Mr. Olson escaped injuries from foreign enemies in Iraq. He came home and was taking part in a peaceful protest when he was hit in the head by a projectile shot by a fellow American of the Oakland Police Department. He now lies in an Oakland hospital in serious condition and it is unknown whether the American soldier will suffer brain damage or how many others were seriously injured as a result of the brutal activities perpetrated by the Northern California law enforcement agencies who participated in the raid.

The tightening of authority in Oakland appears to be a coordinated effort amongst law enforcement agencies indefinitely" and he is losing his "patience" with them. Occupiers be watchful. NBC LA reported Wednesday that when there are crackdowns of this nature police wait until after the late news broadcast before they raid occupy camps for fear the public will see the true brutality involved in removing peaceful protestors who are exercising their United States constitutional rights to voice disapproval of its government and to force change in a society where the 1% has little regard for the remaining 99% of American families and who will also use its police force to protect their 1% rule.

Meanwhile at a recent gathering of bankers, Brian T. Moynihan CEO of Bank of America said "I, like you, get a little incensed when you think about how much good all of you do, whether its volunteer hours, charitable giving we do, serving client, and customers well....You [Occupy Wall Street people] ought to think a little about that before you start yelling at us!"

“KCRW at 600pm on 10/26/11 light heartily reported that OLA was on the road to eviction. They briefly reported that Mayor Villaraigosa is drafting resolution/plans to evict OLA,” wrote J Garcia on OccupyLosAngeles.org. “The encampment next to City Hall cannot continue indefinitely,” LA Times reported that Los Angeles Mayor Antonio Villaraigosa said on Wednesday. “Look our lawn is dead our sprinklers aren’t working...our trees are without water.” LA City Attorney Carmen Trutanich says throw Occupy LA out now! He wants to enforce an existing law that prevents camping in parks after 10:30 pm. The paper went on to say that amongst City Hall staffers, arguably part of the 99%, there was “ridicule about the protesters’ cleanliness” and a “resentment” regarding the loss of the “weekly farmers market.” Remember Gandhi...“First they ignore you, then they laugh at you, then they fight you, then you win.” Is a fight approaching Occupy LA? Prepare yourself.

Occupy Los Angeles News interviewed Mr. Robert “Bob” Vanesh, CFO of railLA yesterday and he indicated he is “politically and journalisticly” connected and heard reliable “rumors” floating around in both circles about an “abrupt” shutdown of the camp “if public opinion weans.” He went on to say the LAPD crackdown would occur “at a moment of calm and they would clean house.” Mr. Vanesh a supporter of Occupy LA stopped by and gave advice to a gathering of occupiers who were discussing “the rule of law” that occupiers should abide by. Afterwards Mr Vanesh privately shared with me he believed the movment needs to “attract” more “mainstream” people as participants. He went on to say some people cannot participate by camping out but “want to help. You must grow your numbers to make a shut down harder.” Occupy Los Angeles News, Mitch Ward, Occupy LA Media
